State of Tennessee Overton County Circuit Court: September Term 1832

On this 24th day of September 1832 personally appeared in open Court, it being a court of record, before the Honorable Nathaniel W. Williams Circuit Judge in & for the third Judicial Circuit in the State of Tennessee, William Phillips a resident citizen of the County of Overton in the State of Tennessee aged 76 years past who being first duly sworn according to the laws of the land doth on his oath make the following declaration in order to obtain the benefit of the act of Congress passed on June 7th, 1832. He entered the service of the United States as a private soldier under the following named officers and served as a private soldier

He states that in the fall of the year (cannot say with certainty the year), he entered the service of the United States as a volunteer rifleman for a tour of three months, in the County of Rowan North Carolina, Marched into a place now called Hiwassee in the State of Tennessee, then Cherokee Nation, against the Indians. His Captain was by the name of Berringer [sic Behringer? or Barringer?]. General Rutherford commanded, Colonel Francis Locke was in command. They had a [indcipherable word] engagement at the Valley Towns, but the Indians soon fled. They destroyed the towns & took some prisoners, took one Indian called Hicks and his wife with many other prisoners & some property. They found some Tories with the Indians. Upon another occasion while he was with some others were cutting down corn, they were fired on by the Indians & some were killed, one man who was standing by him was shot down. Nothing more of importance happened during his tour of service. He was discharged & returned home.

Some time after this he was drafted for three months and marched under the command of the same officers, that he is General Rutherford, Colonel Locke & Captain Berringer. He marched to a place called New Providence in the same State, and was there stationed & remained for the whole time of his service and was discharged without being in any engagement.

He states that owing to the frailty of his recollection arising in part from his old age & in part from the fact of a wound on his head, which he received during the war from some Tories, he is unable to state with certainty the dates, and to be very minute in his details. He knows of no person by whom he can prove his services.

He hereby relinquishes all claims whatever to a pension or annuity except the present and declares that his name is not on the pension roll of any State.
